NASEF, the Network of Academic and Scholastic Esports Federations, began several years ago as a pilot program to leverage youth interest in esports to teach STEM and career skills. NASEF is known internationally for its work to connect play and learning, making meaningful impact on the lives and career options for youth everywhere.

USEF.GG serves as the competition arm of NASEF, and allows it to also extend its mission to gamers beyond school years. The United States' presence in international esports competition is growing through USEF.GG, which has been managed by NASEF since April 2023.

USEF.GG is also recognized as the sole pathway for U.S. esports athletes to compete in IESF (International Esports Federation) tournaments. Both NASEF and USEF.GG fall under the broader umbrella non-profit, the World Wide Scholastic Esports Foundation (WWSEF).
