Operations & Funding

Church Multiplication Network is a leader in starting new churches. They help spread the Christian faith and create strong churches that make a positive impact on communities. CMN's mission aligns seamlessly with SermonShots.com's commitment to helping churches amplify their message and connect with a broader audience.

"We are incredibly proud to partner with Church Multiplication Network," said Corey Alderin, CEO of SermonShots.com. "They work hard to start Christian communities, which is inspiring. We are happy to help them by offering new ways to improve the Church's online presence."

Through this partnership, churches associated with CMN will have access to a free trial of SermonShots.com's AI-powered platform, which converts full-length sermons into short, engaging video clips, blog posts, discussion guides, or devotionals. Our app creates these clips to capture important messages and moments.

Churches can easily share their sermon clips on social media, websites, and other digital platforms using these clips. Churches can use videos to reach new people, strengthen relationships, and get more community involvement.

Starting a new church can be a very time-consuming task and with a small staff it can be difficult to establish an online presence. That's where Sermon Shots comes in allowing you to easily repurpose your sermon into a multitude of different content with the power of AI.

SermonShots.com helps CMN churches succeed in the digital age by offering them the tools for online growth and reach. They work together to help churches share Christ's love more effectively and build connections in a digital world.
