About Profit Advisory Group

PAG was established in 2002 with organizations like yours in mind. They understand the burden of managing multiple technologies at once – that’s why they provide full-service technology consulting and guidance to help simplify decision-making. With their guidance, clients cut costs and repurpose savings toward technologies that help their businesses stay relevant.

They have helped organizations throughout the U.S. and in over 100 countries save millions of dollars by implementing our strategies. Their services include procurement, telecom audits, and guidance to help you make the best decisions for telecom and IT solutions.

At PAG, they do all the hard work for you. They can help you better understand what telecom services you're paying for, correct billing mistakes, and present you with better pricing and service alternatives.

PAG provides businesses with a guaranteed-value proposition and has relationships with over 300 vendors to provide carrier service procurement to our customers.

How Their Process Helps You Save

They understand how high-stakes and stressful it is to be responsible for your business's budget – and how challenging it is to know what the right purchases are at all times. That's why they take a thoughtful approach to our partnerships in order to help you achieve your goals.

They offer expert technology guidance, procurement services, and risk-free audits to help you make smart technology decisions. Through their customized, zero-cost audit process, they have helped our clients save over $700 million and maximize their unique tech budgets.

Their goal is to guide you to the solutions that will support business growth – while keeping you financially sound into the future.
