These properties ensure that colored cast acrylic will retain its look in high-traffic areas like displays and exhibits or under prolonged exposure to sunlight. Low water absorption further expands its potential applications, particularly for outdoor signage. Colored acrylic also serves as a stronger alternative to stained glass for displays, architectural models, and lighting fixtures.

Colored cast acrylic is a versatile material that is easy to machine, fabricate, and glue. It is compatible with CO2 laser cutting systems and produces minimal debris and smooth edges when cut with a laser cutter, helping to ensure accuracy when creating intricate designs in custom projects.
