Alberto March's Safer Food Recognized for Excellence in Print and Published Media Design by A' Design Award

COMO, CO, ITALY, July 23, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- The A' Design Award, a highly respected and well-recognized award in the field of print design, has announced Safer Food by Alberto March as the winner of the Iron A' Design Award in the Print and Published Media Design category. This prestigious recognition highlights the significance of Safer Food within the print industry and design community, acknowledging its outstanding design and contribution to the field.

Safer Food's recognition by the A' Print and Published Media Design Award underscores its relevance to current trends and needs within the print industry. The design aligns with industry standards and practices, offering practical benefits for users, stakeholders, and the broader print community. By showcasing innovation and utility, Safer Food demonstrates its value and potential impact on the industry.

Safer Food stands out in the market through its unique features and functionality. The design effectively conveys food safety information, incorporating input from technical advisory groups and stakeholders. The report's content is structured by sections, colors, and relevant photographs, engaging the audience and encouraging interest in the proposed policies and actions. The brand identity, including the logo and iconography, reinforces the importance of food safety in the supply chain.

Winning the A' Print and Published Media Design Award serves as motivation for Alberto March and his team to continue striving for excellence and innovation in future projects. This recognition may inspire further exploration and advancement in the field of food safety communication and design. It highlights the potential for design to make a meaningful impact on public health and safety.

About Alberto March

Alberto March is a talented designer from Spain who has made significant contributions to various social and educational initiatives. From 2008 to 2010, he supported St. Augustine College in Chicago by creating images for the El Puente Gala, an event that raises funds for low-income Latino student scholarships. He also designed for the National Latino AIDS Awareness Day in New York during social campaigns. In 2008, March created the innovative "Flip to Learn" program to assist non-speaking English students in learning irregular verbs, which has been implemented at several educational institutions across the United States.

About The World Health Organization

The World Health Organization (WHO) is a global leader in advancing health and safety efforts, particularly for vulnerable populations. It provides technical support to countries, sets global health standards, aggregates data on worldwide health issues, and serves as a platform for discussions on health-related scientific or policy matters. The WHO has played a leading role in several public health achievements, including the eradication of smallpox, the near-eradication of polio, and the development of an Ebola vaccine. Alberto March has been providing design and layout services for various WHO initiatives, including reports, guidelines, statements, and presentations for the Nutrition Unit, Less Alcohol, and the rapid assistive technology assessment (rATA).
