notes Craig Orchant, Co-Founder and Managing Partner of ERM Capital. Susan Elkind, ERM Co-Founder and COO, adds, "A recent example of our work in this sector is the Kupon Solar and Battery Storage project located at Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam in Hawaii. We were advisors to a joint venture comprised of a major utility development subsidiary and a leading clean energy development and energy services company. The project is now operational, is the largest such project on Oahu, and reduces over 50,000 tons of CO2 annually. We are excited to introduce our clients to the exchange and to share our opportunities with SustainAble exchange members."

SustainAble Exchange brings corporations and communities together in accelerating the adoption of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals. Under the partnership with ERM Capital, SustainAble Exchange will work closely with its members, ERM Capital professionals and its clients in projects associated with energy transition, clean and efficient energy, clean transportation and sustainable infrastructure. "Corporations, investment funds, municipalities, universities, SWFs, state pensions, foundations and family offices will be supported by the collective efforts of SustainAble Exchange and ERM Capital. Craig Orchant and Susan Elkind have built a fantastic advisory and investment banking franchise serving clean energy developers / operators, utilities, investment funds, sovereign funds and corporations focused on energy transition and clean energy. I am honored to be working with the ERM Capital franchise on important clean energy and infrastructure projects," according to Sustain Exchange, LLC Co-Founder and CEO, Jon C. Ohrn.
