5. NFT HODLing

The HODL strategy involves holding onto NFTs for an extended period, regardless of market fluctuations. This long-term approach is popular among investors looking for substantial gains over time.

Flipping involves buying NFTs at a low price and selling them at a higher price for a short-term profit. This strategy requires careful market research and timing.

6. Minting Your Own NFTs

Creating and minting your own NFTs allows digital artists and creators to monetize their work on various NFT marketplaces, offering a direct revenue stream.

7. NFT Trading

8. Staking NFTs

NFT staking involves locking up digital assets on decentralized finance (DeFi) platforms to earn rewards, typically in the form of the network's native tokens.

9. Generating Royalties
