Flipping involves buying NFTs at a low price and selling them at a higher price for a short-term profit. This strategy requires careful market research and timing.

6. Minting Your Own NFTs

Creating and minting your own NFTs allows digital artists and creators to monetize their work on various NFT marketplaces, offering a direct revenue stream.

7. NFT Trading

NFT trading focuses on making incremental gains over time through regular buying and selling. This strategy aims for steady growth rather than quick profits.

8. Staking NFTs

9. Generating Royalties

Creators can set royalty percentages during the minting process, ensuring they receive payments from secondary market sales. This provides a continuous revenue stream for original creators.
