API Protection is designed based on the security rules of WAPPLES, Penta Security's Web Application & API Protection (WAAP) solution, and managed rule groups that were validated by a third-party IT solutions comparative testing firm to have a top-tier detection rate. API Protection provides security by establishing a proactive defense system against the OWASP API Security Top 10 Risks.

Taejoon Jung, director of the Planning Division at Penta Security stated, "It is already well known that WAAP is the safest cyber security model for any type of businesses, but implementing WAAP may require a heavy investment of resources. However, with the launch of API Protection, businesses of all sizes, from enterprises to SMBs and even Startups, can now combine Cloudbric Managed Rules with AWS WAF to quickly and easily establish a WAAP model. "

Recently, Penta Security was invited by AWS to join the AWS Activate Program as a provider partner. Through AWS Activate, the Startup customers currently using the services of Penta Security can receive support in establishing AWS-based businesses.
