for the Future of Orphans announced the extension of its partnership with CFI Jordan for an additional year to support the education of six beneficiaries from Al Aman Fund.

These students are specializing in different fields such as accounting, digital marketing, cybersecurity, and others at several public and private universities across various governorates in Jordan. The partnership agreement covers the entire cost of two boarding students, including university tuition, living expenses (housing, a monthly allowance, and health insurance), and capacity-building and well-being programs. Additionally, the agreement covers educational fees for four non-boarding students, as well as capacity-building and well-being programs.

This ongoing collaboration is part of Al Aman Fund and CFI's efforts to support and empower orphaned youth in Jordan, contributing effectively to building sustainable communities by providing the necessary educational and livelihood support.

Al Aman Fund's General Manager, Ms. Noor Homoud, appreciated this generous initiative from CFI Group, reflecting the company's belief in Al Aman's mission. She said, "We are proud of this collaboration with CFI Jordan and the positive impact achieved through their support over the past years. We also take pride in their belief in our mission, as they will be supporting our orphaned youth for four consecutive years to ensure they complete their educational journey, and become productive members of society."
