

The 5 Burroughs of New York City Welcome ARYA, A New World of Integrated Communication & Data Visualization

ARYA Aims to Help Reduce Crime and Improve Communities with Use of its Proprietary Technology

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, August 1, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- ARYA specializes in integrated enterprise communications focusing on business resilience, business continuity and crisis communications. Today, ARYA is excited to announce its expansion into the 5 Burroughs of New York City to help communities and reduce crime.

ARYA has built the first integrated communications and data visualization platform designed to provide a common communication architecture for public/private sector integration, providing trusted, protected communications, and bringing the right information to the right people at precisely the right time.

“ARYA is thrilled with the opening of its new Madison Avenue office and is honored to give back to the City of New York with the use of our AI and quantum technologies to help reduce crime,” said Robert Wilson, ARYA Founder and CEO.

Jay Tabb, ARYA President and Former Senior FBI Executive

ARYA has brought together global senior leaders of large corporations, counterterrorism, cybersecurity, law enforcement and technology to co-develop its communications platform that the world has been seeking to solve their communication needs.

“ARYA’s enterprise communication platform was purpose built to provide trusted communications and shared awareness tools, and we are excited to bring an integrated solution for public and private sector in New York City,” said Jay Tabb, President and Former Senior FBI Executive.

Working with law enforcement and private enterprises, ARYA is now bringing its new technology to New York to aid in solving the greatest communication needs while protecting employees, clients, assets, and intellectual property.
