"The growth of the eGOV Summit and expansion of education for entrepreneurs and innovators is tied directly to the U.S. Department of Defense National Defense Strategy," cites Tyler Johnson, eMerge Americas Director of Government and Defense Innovation. "Earlier this year, the Defense Innovation Unit director talked about the increasingly important role of dual-use commercial technologies in how DOD solves problems, and we have repeatedly heard from attendees and partners that more and better education for vendors is critical to ensuring these public-private collaborations occur."

Presenting under the banner GettingFED™ Live! at the 2025 eGOV Summit, The American Small Business Coalition was selected to lead the development and production of education programming for the topic: Government Contracting Pathways for Defense and Dual-Use Technologies.

"GettingFED™ is our newest channel for delivering education and insights to benefit Government and Industry, and we are excited to align with the eGOV Summit," shares Go-To-Guy Timberlake, chief executive officer and co-founder of The American Small Business Coalition (The ASBC). "Since 2010, our Ethical Stalking for Government Contractors® curriculum has empowered companies of all sizes, experience, and disciplines with the proven strategies and tactics they need for achieving growth in federal contracting. We look forward to engaging with the eGOV Summit audience and helping them increase their positive outcomes."

GettingFED™ Live! at the 2025 eGOV Summit presents curated conversations and education developed and facilitated by experts with decades of experience across topics including successfully acquiring and managing critical programs for civilian and defense agencies and the development of intelligence and relationships for industry organizations awarded federal contracts that support civilian and defense agency requirements. GettingFED™ Live! at the 2025 eGOV Summit supercharges how entrepreneurs and innovators connect, learn, and explore opportunities to establish public-private collaborations for Defense and Dual-Use Technologies.
