

Ann Curry Joins Space2Sea Antarctica Voyage of Legends

Ann Curry Joining an Esteemed Lineup of Speakers: William Shatner, Neil deGrasse Tyson, Scott Kelly, Céline Cousteau, and Stephen Wiltshire

PORTLAND, OR, UNITED STATES, August 1, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- FUTURE of SPACE is proud to announce that acclaimed journalist Ann Curry will join the extraordinary lineup of featured speakers for the upcoming Space2Sea Antarctica Voyage. Curry will share the stage with luminaries William Shatner, Neil deGrasse Tyson, Céline Cousteau, and Stephen Wiltshire bringing her unparalleled experience and insights to this once-in-a-lifetime expedition.

Ann Curry is renowned for her extensive career in journalism, having reported from nearly every corner of the globe.

Her distinguished work has graced NBC News' Today, Nightly News, Meet the Press, Dateline, and MSNBC programs, as well as, National Geographic Magazine. Curry's reportage covers a wide array of critical issues including wars, humanitarian disasters, nuclear issues, climate change, and poverty. Her commitment to highlighting the human impact of these issues has earned her multiple prestigious awards, including the Edward R. Murrow Lifetime Achievement in Journalism Award and seven Emmys.

During her career, Curry has documented the effects of climate change firsthand, interviewing scientists and indigenous peoples. She has reported on the deepening drought in the American West, glacial melt on Mount Kilimanjaro, and in the polar regions, and spent time inside an expedition hut left by Sir Ernest Shackleton in Antarctica. Her work has provided a vital lens on the environmental crises facing our planet.

Curry's interest in space exploration is equally notable, having reported from NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory and Johnson Space Center. Her experiences include interviewing scientists and astronauts and experiencing NASA's reduced-gravity aircraft, the so-called "vomit comet." Her unique perspective is complemented by her husband, Brian Ross, a former NASA space systems engineer.

Over her illustrious career, Curry has conducted exclusive interviews with an impressive list of world leaders and influential figures, including Iran's Presidents Hassan Rouhani, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad and Muhammad Khatami, and Foreign Minister Zarif; Syria's President Bashar al-Assad and First Lady Asma al-Assad; Pakistan's Benazir Bhutto, President Ali Zadari and President Musharraf; Turkey's President Erdogan; Sudan's President Omar Bashir and South Sudan's President Salva Kiir; Liberia's President Ellen Johnson Sirleaf; Chad's President Idriss Deby; as well as U.S. Presidents George H. W. Bush, Bill Clinton, George W. Bush and Barack Obama, as well as Vice-President Joe Biden, Secretaries of State John Kerry and Hillary Clinton, the Dalai Lama, Sir Edmund Hillary, Dr. Jane Goodall, George Clooney, Maya Angelou, Angelina Jolie, Archbishop Desmond Tutu, and Ukraine's First Lady Olena Zelenska, among others.

Curry's participation in Space2Sea is a unique opportunity for Voyagers sailing to Antarctica to engage with her extensive knowledge and experiences. Her commitment to humanitarian causes and in-depth reporting on global issues will add a profound dimension to the Voyage's discussions.
