

Purpose Healing Center Expands its Leading Substance Use Disorder Resources with a Parents Guide to Drug Smells and More

Purpose Healing Center offers resources for families facing addiction including "A Parent's Guide to Drug Smells" and relapse prevention tools. AHCCCS accepted.

PHOENIX, ARIZONA, UNITED STATES, August 6, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Purpose Healing Center, a leading provider of addiction treatment services in Arizona, has announced the expansion of its educational resources for families affected by substance use disorders. The centerpiece of this initiative is "A Parent's Guide to Drug Smells," a comprehensive resource designed to help parents identify potential signs of drug use in their children.

"We understand the challenges families face when confronting addiction," said a spokesperson for Purpose Healing Center. "Our new guide empowers parents with practical knowledge, enabling them to take proactive steps in supporting their loved ones."

The guide is part of a growing body of resources developed by Purpose Healing Center to support both families and clinicians in the behavioral health space. These materials complement the center's Joint Commission-accredited treatment programs, which are rapidly gaining recognition as among the most authoritative and respected in Arizona.

In addition to the parent's guide, Purpose Healing Center has introduced a new relapse prevention guide and accompanying worksheets. These tools are designed to support individuals in maintaining long-term recovery and are available to both current clients and alumni of the center's programs.

"Our commitment to the recovery journey extends far beyond the walls of our treatment facilities," the spokesperson added. "These new resources from Purpose reflect our dedication to supporting families fighting substance misuse, clinicians, and the thriving recovery communities across Arizona.."

Purpose Healing Center's expansion of resources comes at a critical time, as substance use disorders continue to impact communities across Arizona. The center's approach combines evidence-based treatment methodologies with a deep understanding of the unique challenges faced by individuals and families in recovery.

A key aspect of Purpose Healing Center's mission is ensuring accessibility to quality treatment. The center proudly accepts nearly all forms of AHCCCS insurance, making its programs available to a wide range of Arizona residents who may otherwise struggle to access care.

What Do Drugs Smell Like?
A Loved One's Guide

METH
Ammonia or Chemical Smell.

DMT
Often unpleasant smell when smoked, some describe it as mothballs.

HEROIN
The vinegar-like odor lends a pungent and strong scent to heroin when smoked.

COCAINE
In the powder form has a faint, slightly sweet smell. When someone smokes cocaine, it produces a chemical odor.

ANGEL DUST \ PCP
PCP smell as a distinct odor, somewhat like the strong odor of a permanent marker.

FENTANYL
Does not emit any aroma.

MARIJUANA
A skunk-like smell

CRACK
Some describe crack cocaine smell as burning plastic and candy scents, with hints of nail polish remover.

SPICE (K2)
An unpredictable odor. Most describe it as similar to the smell of potpourri. It's pungent and, like marijuana, can stick to hair and textiles.
