Construction Boom Fuels Market Expansion

The increasing construction activities worldwide are significantly boosting the pressure washer market. Pressure washers play a crucial role in cleaning construction equipment, preparing surfaces, and maintaining building exteriors. For example, a report from the United States Census Bureau revealed a 3.8% increase in construction spending from March 2022 to March 2023, reaching $1,834.7 billion. This growth, coupled with a 15.6% increase in new housing units in 2021, highlights the expanding demand for pressure washing solutions in the construction sector.
