About Mitja Manček

Mitja Manček is a renowned filmmaker whose animations tackle controversial social issues. His previous works have won international acclaim, including awards from the Slovene Film Festival and screenings at major film festivals.

"I have been making short animated films for more than a quarter of a century, as I started, when I was 10 years old. I finished the study of Graphic Design in Animated Film in Film School Zlín in Czech Republic in 2009. I work as self-employed in culture in Slovenia since 2010. My films got many international awards all around the globe. Most common animation technique that I use is drawing on paper. I also engraved two films directly on a film. I also make music, sound and editing for my films."
