

adoc Studio brings AsciiDoc to the iPad for the first time

New Technical Documentation Software for Mac, iPad & iPhone – Out Now

HAMBURG, GERMANY, August 14, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The market for technical documentation has so far been almost exclusively on Windows systems.

But now there is a new challenger that offers authors a solution in the Apple cosmos: adoc Studio.

adoc Studio is available for Mac, iPad and iPhone

It is the first integrated writing environment for AsciiDoc on Mac, iPad and iPhone. With this software, authors create & publish their technical documents - no matter where they are.

We are finally taking off with adoc Studio. Our new app ends a ten-year odyssey to find the right solution to write our documentation for Merlin Project.”

Frank Blome

Quote from Frank Blome, CEO of ProjectWizards
"After two years of intensive development, we are finally taking off with adoc Studio.

Our new app ends a ten-year odyssey to find the right solution to write our documentation for Merlin Project. We kept running into problems: complex maintenance, unstable software and a lack of iPad support.

With our experience, we realized at some point that we could do better."

– Frank Blome

What can adoc Studio do?

With adoc Studio, technical authors can work on their texts anytime and anywhere. You write, edit, edit and output as PDF & HTML:

1. Ideal for Long and Structured Documents: With AsciiDoc as the base language, individual documents or extensive books with many chapters are created. An intelligent completion menu helps you get started.

2. Easy to Learn: The text is written in the editor and displayed in the preview as an HTML or PDF document. The layout is done automatically.

3. Variables and Conditions: In adoc Studio, recurring text passages, such as product names or URLs, are defined once and used everywhere in the document. This means that future changes only have to be made once. In addition, conditions allow certain text passages to be shown - or not.

Availability and price

adoc Studio is offered in the Apple App Store as a bundle for all platforms (Mac, iPad and iPhone).

After a 14-day free trial period, adoc Studio costs €9.99 per month or €99.99 per year.
