Atlanta, GA – Workers Compensation Lawyer Coalition, an innovative law firm centered around three important concepts: outstanding results, personalized attention, and uncompromising integrity, is pleased to announce the recent changes to Georgia Workers' Compensation Laws and their impact on injured workers.

In light of the recent legislative updates to Georgia's workers' compensation laws, the workers' compensation lawyers are dedicated to informing the public about the significant changes to the laws. These changes include increased benefit rates for Temporary Total Disability (TTD), Temporary Partial Disability (TPD), and Permanent Partial Disability (PPD), expanded eligibility for dependency benefits, and modified criteria for terminating surviving spouse benefits. These updates are designed to provide greater financial support and protection for injured workers and their families.

The increased benefit rates and expanded eligibility for dependency benefits mean that more families can maintain financial stability after a workplace injury. At Workers Compensation Lawyers Atlanta, we are committed to helping our clients navigate these new regulations to secure the maximum compensation they deserve," said a representative from the firm.
