Energy, a premier UK-based specialist in residential and commercial planning, building, and sustainability, has embarked on a strategic partnership with Creativeguru.ai to increase the number of engaged visitors to their website and solidify their position as the dominant supplier of ESG (Environmental, Social, and Governance) compliance services in the UK.

My team is working with dozens of ambitious founders like Sam Guest who see the benefit of Creativeguru's technology as a way to carve out a niche for themselves at the forefront of their markets,”

Marcie Terman: Creativeguru founder

Focus 360 Energy is renowned for its comprehensive 360° property compliance services, ranging from pre-planning support to post-construction certification. Their expertise includes providing Energy Performance Certificates (EPCs) to capture a building's energy efficiency, a requisite for property sales or rentals, alongside an array of property compliance services. As trusted sustainability consultants, they work across the UK to deliver superior energy and environmental assessments for a variety of clients, including local authorities, architects, builders, and developers.

In their ambitious drive to lead the ESG compliance market, Focus 360 Energy has enlisted the innovative services of Creativeguru.ai. Creativeguru.ai specializes in structuring information to generate positive outcomes and delivering engaged visitors at scale to clients' websites. Through sophisticated profiling and targeted engagement on social networks, Creativeguru.ai ensures potential customers have a positive impression by the time they visit a client's website.

Sam Guest, Managing Director of Focus 360 Energy, expressed his enthusiasm for the partnership: "Working with Creativeguru provides us with an opportunity to meet our very aggressive business objectives. The Focus 360 Energy Team has been working for over a year crafting a web site that clearly presents our value proposition of supplying a full range of assessment services for the full lifecycle of a building project. From land assessments to meeting various government protocols, Creativeguru.ai helps us identify prospective customers that can benefit from our services while minimising the burden on our internal resources. This has increased the overall efficiency of our business while allowing us to greatly increase our customer base."
