“This year’s fantastic submissions have impressively showcased masterfully captured photographs, reflecting the passion and craftsmanship of the global photography community,” remarked Thomas Brandt, spokesperson for IAA. “It has been a challenging yet rewarding task for our esteemed panel of jurors to evaluate these powerful and expressive visuals, where they deliver strong forms of excellence in the forms of art.”

Grand Jury Panel

Featuring a group of the worlds’ best professionals, the European Photography Awards upholds a professional standard in selecting its jurors, ensuring the highest levels of integrity and prestige. Notable members of the jury include Ryo Utsunomiya (Japan), Alessandra Minotti (Italy), Benny Lau (Hong Kong SAR), Marine Foissey (France), Dawid Galinski (Poland), and Leon Syfrit (United States), among others, each contributing their unique expertise and dedication to uphold golden evaluation standards.

“Crowning and honouring the most outstanding winners in this global competition can be a grandly celebrated moment,” said Thomas. “The depth revealed in each image highlights the limitless creativity behind each hand holding the lens. Every photograph recognised today underscores the lasting influence on this community, leading towards a creative world which the competition aims to create.”

In conjunction with the recent conclusion of the European Photography Awards, its sister award – the New York Photography Awards, is actively inviting submissions from around the world now. The competition calls for outstanding photographers worldwide, who share their vision with the world, who have a story to tell, and who have a piece of themselves to reveal.
