LENEXA, KS, UNITED STATES, August 22, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LoftyLoo™ Raised Litter Box, a female-owned, USA-based company, announces the launch of its Kickstarter campaign aimed at raising $85,000 to bring the first-ever ADA-Accessible Raised Litter Box to market.

Contributions from the LoftyLoo™ Kickstarter campaign will fund manufacturing costs, fulfilling the high demand and delivery of this life-changing product to cat owners in need. LoftyLoo™ plans to revolutionize cat care for disabled, aging, and mobility-challenged cat owners, as well as those suffering from chronic joint pain.

With 46.5 million of US households owning at least one cat, countless seniors and the disabled find cleaning the litter box the most physically demanding part of routine cat care. For many, bending down on the floor to clean the litter box is physically challenging, and simply dangerous. LoftyLoo's ergonomic design allows users to safely sit or stand while maintaining the litter box, promoting independence and ease. Moreover, cats and their owners and other house pets benefit from the security a raised litter box offers.

By backing the LoftyLoo™ Kickstarter campaign, supporters will play a crucial role in making cat care safer and easier for millions of cat owners in need.

"Cat care shouldn't have to hurt. We believe that everyone deserves the joy of owning a cat without the physical strain that traditional litter boxes can cause," says Amy Leiker, founder of LoftyLoo™. "Automatic litter boxes and those that promote self-cleaning are too complicated and unnatural for cats, often not meeting our customers' needs. With the support of our Kickstarter backers, we can make our vision a reality and help millions of cat owners regain their independence."
