/EINPresswire.com/ -- Dr. Maxim Ivanchuk, an internationally acclaimed plastic surgeon, has made medical history by performing a complex facial surgery on himself, becoming the first doctor in the world to successfully complete such a procedure. only a carefully selected team present: this procedure, unrivaled worldwide, has become the doctor's most performed treatment, attracting a diverse international clientele, including top politicians and Hollywood stars. Dr. Ivanchuk employed his signature facial rejuvenation procedure, a unique blend of advanced techniques, including zygomatic contouring, youthful angle enhancement, chin sculpting, and the innovative J Plasma FACE technology. "In order to truly perfect a procedure, I needed to understand it from the patient's perspective," said Dr. Ivanchuk. "This self-surgery allowed me to experience the benefits of my techniques firsthand, deepening my empathy and understanding for my patients."

The surgery was conducted with the support of two operating room nurses, an anesthesiologist, and a nurse who held a mirror to allow Dr. Ivanchuk to guide the operation with precision. The use of J Plasma FACE technology, which tightens the skin without scars, was a key component in achieving the remarkable results. Following the surgery, Dr. Ivanchuk reported immediate satisfaction with the outcome and felt well enough to enjoy a meal shortly after the procedure—further demonstrating the efficacy of his technique.

The global medical community has taken note of Dr. Ivanchuk's extraordinary self-surgery, with many hailing it as a new frontier in cosmetic procedures. The news has also generated significant interest among potential patients eager to undergo the same transformative treatment.
