"It's very exciting for me to bring the EESystem to Las Vegas. I had severe chronic shoulder pain for years and it disappeared after a series of six-hour EESystem sessions. It changed my life! I knew then that I had something that could give me quality of life," says Co-owner Dan Holtz, co-founder of the Beverly Hills Rejuvenation Center, a top anti-aging and medical spa with locations across the country.

Co-owner Tony Robbins is also an advocate for the revolutionary healing technology of the EESystem, which he had installed in his home. "The quality of your life is the quality of the life in your cells. It's all bio-electrical energy that makes us alive; if we can enhance that, why wouldn't you," he says in a recent interview with Jason Shurka of Unifyd Healing, a global initiative to heal the world working in direct collaboration with the EESystem for the betterment of humanity.

The Energy Enhancement System (EESystem) is a light therapy that blends science and an integrative health approach through bio-active life-enhancing energy fields, including scalar wave frequencies, which promote overall wellness and healing.
