connect with community networks serving the military population.

“As a military spouse of 15+ years, I’ve chosen to accompany my service member around the world, resulting in a career path that is far from traditional. I am deeply grateful that Fastport not only embraces my connection to the military but also celebrates the unique experience it brings. Military spouses are a talented, diverse, and educated group who, despite varied work experience, add significant value. Many companies support us in theory but quickly shy away from discussions regarding remote work, flexible hours, or appropriate compensation. This partnership showcases a strong commitment to military families and I’m proud to be a part of it”, said Emily Peacock, Fastport Customer Experience Specialist.

On Monday, August 12th, Sharri Justice signed a Statement of Support on behalf of Fastport formalizing this important partnership. Fastport will gain access to valuable resources as an MSEP SB partner, including the MSEP Jobs Portal, which allows the company to directly post employment opportunities for military spouses.
