

VRIZE and Tonic Shaping the Next Wave of Restaurant POS Technology

TAMPA, FLORIDA, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- VRIZE, a leading provider of digital engineering solutions, and Tonic, an innovative leader in restaurant point-of-sale software, announced a partnership to grow Tonic into a category killer product. Tonic is making waves with its restaurant point-of-sale system and has set its eyes on getting to the next orbit with AI and predictive analytics infused experiences for the restaurant guests, staff, and partners.

Tyler Young, CEO of Tonic, conveyed his excitement about the partnership, stating, "Meeting VRIZE leadership and hearing their story was like looking in a mirror. Their commitment to innovation, their people-first culture, and their focus on delivering real-world solutions aligns perfectly with Tonic's values. With VRIZE's expertise fueling our development, Tonic is poised to deliver even more powerful, streamlined, and user-friendly tools to our partners and their clients. We're excited to see what this collaboration brings!"

Maloy Roy, CEO of VRIZE, shared his enthusiasm, saying, "VRIZE is all about creating products that give our customers category leadership. We love putting our engineering mettle to play with the customer's vision and expect nothing but experience delight as the outcome. With Tonic, we have a great story in the making and can't wait to walk into the restaurants and see Tonic in action."
