Ingalls Information Security, a leader in technology-enabled cybersecurity risk management services, will exhibit at the prestigious Air, Space & Cyber Conference from September 16-18, 2024, at the Gaylord National Resort & Convention Center in National Harbor, Md. Organized by the Air & Space Forces Association (AFA), the event brings together industry leaders, military professionals, and technology innovators to address the theme "Achieving Decisive Advantage in an Age of Growing Threats."

We are committed to offering innovative strategies and cutting-edge technologies that help the defense community achieve a decisive advantage in an age of growing threats.”

Brandi Pickett, Director of Government Programs at Ingalls

The Air, Space & Cyber Conference provides an unparalleled platform for professional development, knowledge sharing, and networking. With over 40 sessions featuring senior leaders from the Department of the Air Force and the aerospace industry, the event promises to be a hub of innovation and strategic insights.

"Attending the Air, Space & Cyber Conference is crucial as it allows us to engage directly with industry leaders and military professionals who are shaping the future of defense technology," said Brandi Pickett, Director of Government Programs at Ingalls. "This conference provides a unique opportunity to share our expertise in cybersecurity solutions tailored for the Department of Defense. We are committed to offering innovative strategies and cutting-edge technologies that help the defense community achieve a decisive advantage in an age of growing threats."

At the conference, Ingalls will showcase its expertise in DoD cybersecurity solutions including Risk Management Framework \(RMF\) and Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification (CMMC) services. With expertise in the DoD and DIB, Ingalls offers end-to-end RMF services and strategic advisory and comprehensive CMMC services, guiding clients through compliance complexities.

Ingalls' cutting-edge cybersecurity solution, Cybersecurity Assurance Readiness \(CSAR\)/RMF Pro, is a software automation tool that streamlines and simplifies the path to Authorization to Operate (ATO) approval. CSAR/RMF Pro supports the Prepare and Categorize Steps of the Risk Management Framework (RMF), aiming to accelerate the system identification and classification process as systems enter the RMF process to achieve an ATO.
