

SynergyOps Cookware Factory in West Bend Achieves Prestigious ISO Certification

WEST BEND, WISCONSIN, UNITED STATES, August 21, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- SynergyOps, a leading manufacturing facility of cookware and a key division of Regal Ware Inc., proudly announces that it has been awarded ISO 9001:2015 Certification, marking a significant milestone in the company's commitment to global manufacturing excellence and quality assurance.

This (ISO) recognition validates our unwavering commitment to maintaining the highest standards in our cookware manufacturing processes and quality control.”

Dave Duecker, President of SynergyOps

International Organization for Standardization (ISO) Certifications are globally recognized standards that ensure products and services meet the stringent requirements for quality, safety, and efficiency. SynergyOps, with a commitment to manufacturing the highest level of quality cookware within the United States, has met the requirements to achieve ISO 9001. This achievement underscores SynergyOps' dedication to product quality, continuous improvement, and customer satisfaction.

Dave Duecker, President of SynergyOps, expressed his enthusiasm about the certification, stating, “Achieving this ISO Certification is a testament to the hard work and dedication of our entire team at SynergyOps. This recognition validates our unwavering commitment to maintaining the highest standards in our cookware manufacturing processes and quality control. It enhances our competitive position in the kitchen products market and reassures our customers that they are receiving products manufactured to the highest standards.”

Ryan Reigle, CEO of Regal Ware Inc., the holding company for SynergyOps, also commented on the achievement: “This ISO Certification is not just a badge of honor; it represents our continuing promise to deliver superior quality and reliability to our customers. It also reflects our broader strategy to integrate operational excellence across all our divisions. We are incredibly proud of the SynergyOps team for achieving this significant milestone and what it means for our customers.”

The ISO 9001 Certification process involves rigorous evaluations and audits of a company's operational processes and quality management systems. This certification is expected to open new avenues for SynergyOps, enhancing customer trust and expanding the company's reach in both domestic and international markets.
