In general, the Years considered in the study i.e. base year is 2022, Historical data is considered as 2018-2022 and the Forecast time frame is 2023E-2029.

- Various analytical tools were used to assess how the insurance Sector and particularly Small Business Insurance Industry might respond over the next decade to global macroeconomic shifts. Our " consensus scenario" assumes a recovery of Global GDP growth in the coming years in addition to fluctuating interest rates; the results presented in Small Business Insurance Market report reflect the output of this model.

- While calculating the growth of Small Business Insurance Market, we generally used nominal gross premium figures based on 2022 fixed exchange rates, since this data allowed us to compare local growth rates without the interference of currency fluctuations. The exceptions, which use floating exchange rates, are Argentina, Ukraine, and Venezuela, many African Countries, etc due to high inflation rates.
