"I'm basically just taking my music and message directly to the people in a grassroots manner, having fun with it, and hopefully making as many new friends, fans & artists as we can along the way," says PayCheck. "I'm using this as the kickoff for my new CD, More Days Behind. We have a limited number of copies just for this tour before the official release on November 1st. I wanted to do something a little different this time, so off we go on a pop-up promo tour. I'm excited!"

John PayCheck, son of country music legend Johnny PayCheck, embodies tradition while forging his own path in the industry. He grew up surrounded by legends, with music ingrained in his everyday life. John's musical journey began humbly as a roadie, where he learned about the serve his country as an Army aviator. John still serves as a Reserve Army Officer in Europe. Despite his hiatus, music remained a constant thread in his life, drawing him back after 20 years.

As a combat veteran, farmer, and devoted family man, John's return to music was fueled by industry support and the encouragement of fellow country music legacy kids. A CMA member and BMI songwriter, his first single "Lone Stars" charted on radio, a significant milestone in his career. With a unique vocal style and deep-rooted appreciation for classic country, he continues his family's legacy while embracing the genre's evolution. As the next generation of PayCheck emerges, John stands as a testament to the enduring spirit of country music and the profound bond with his father.

He has been invited to perform at the Grand Ole Opry. He has shared the stage with Chris Janson, Confederate Railroad, Dallas Moore and others. He has written with Erin Enderlin, Scott Gabbey, and has more. John is building his own career despite the shadow of his father's and who knows what the future holds; but it is exciting to see and be a part of.
