

Huajiang Science Lab by Daisuke Nagatomo and Minnie Jan Wins Silver in A' Interior Design Awards

Daisuke Nagatomo and Minnie Jan Recognized for Outstanding Classroom Renovation Design in Prestigious International Competition

COMO, CO, ITALY, August 27, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The A' Design Award, a highly respected recognition in the field of interior design, has announced Daisuke Nagatomo and Minnie Jan as winners of the Silver A' Design Award for their exceptional work, "Huajiang Science Lab." This prestigious accolade celebrates the duo's outstanding classroom renovation design, which showcases their expertise and innovation in the interior design industry.

The Huajiang Science Lab design holds significant relevance for the Interior industry and its stakeholders. By creating an experimental space that fosters crucial scientific practices like observation, inquiry, and experimentation, the design aligns with contemporary educational needs. The innovative spatial reconfigurations facilitate enhanced teacher-student interaction, promoting a conducive learning environment that benefits both educators and learners.

Daisuke Nagatomo and Minnie Jan's award-winning design stands out for its unique features and functionality. The space is divided into a primary teaching area and an exploration area, with a thoughtfully positioned teacher's preparation desk for effective management. The curved ceiling symbolizes centripetal force towards learning, representing the sky and curiosity about nature. The semi-circle opening connects the main classroom with the small library space, creating a seamless transition for students' explorations.
