

BRIOTIX HEALTH Launches JOBABLE™: A Revolutionary Breakthrough in Job Demands Software

CENTENNIAL, COLORADO, UNITED STATES, August 27, 2024

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Briotix Health

has released the latest evolution in their Job Analysis software with the newest version of JOBABLE™. The introduction of cognitive demands tracking, enhanced information security, and an updated job search feature create a more robust product for current and future clients.

The JOBABLE™ software solution is a platform to store and analyze established job demands. With JOBABLE™, companies can make more informed hiring decisions, improve return-to-work, and more thoroughly understand their workplace. Employers working with JOBABLE™ can easily classify job requirements and use the Job Classifier to match capabilities with tasks and jobs resulting in improved return-to-work possibilities and productivity.

“This is a complete rewrite and refactoring of the JOBABLE™ application, with enhanced security, scalability, cognitive demands, and job classification,” states Russ Hertzberg, Chief Technology Officer at Briotix Health. “The multitude of new features present exciting opportunities for improvement and innovation at every level of the workplace.”

Briotix Health has launched this new version of JOBABLE™ with a breadth of features for the modern workplace, giving employers the power to understand job demands and enact meaningful changes in the workplace to improve employees' health. JOBABLE™ is a part of Briotix Health's comprehensive occupational health and safety solutions utilizing exceptional providers and robust software solutions to help employers improve workplace health and safety.
