"emerging movement" is a celebration of contemporary art's most innovative voices, bringing together a diverse group of artists who are redefining the boundaries of modern art. Co-curated by the ArtHaus team and The Trops, the exhibition features work that spans a variety of mediums including painting, sculpture, digital art, and mixed media. The participating artists explore themes of identity, culture, and the human experience, presenting cutting-edge perspectives that are shaping the future of art.

The exhibition is a dialogue between the fresh, vibrant expressions of emerging artists and the profound, studied work of established figures in the art world. This interplay sets the stage for a rich and nuanced conversation between different generations and practices, offering visitors a unique opportunity to experience the evolving trends and experimental techniques that define contemporary art today.

Featured artists include Nick Farhi, a contemporary artist with an MFA from Columbia University and has sold out all of his shows internationally in the last three years, the Brooklyn-based queer collective adultchildren, known for their interdisciplinary practice that blends visual art, performance, and community engagement, and Camille Kelley, whose multimedia work delves into the complexities of the human psyche. Also featured are David Cantoni, whose conceptual art explores memory and history through innovative techniques, and Karmimadeebora McMillan, whose vibrant, multidisciplinary works reflect on identity, culture, and history.

ArtHaus will also host ArtHaus After Hours on Saturday, September 7, from 8 PM to 4 AM, in partnership with CX Collective and The Trops. This event will celebrate the official launch of the ArtHaus platform and the pre-launch of CX's new private club. Attendees can look forward to a special performance by adultchildren, as well as DJ sets and live performances by other talented artists.
