Rising Demand for At-Home Care:

- An aging population and preference for aging in place is driving double-digit growth in at-home personal care and home health aides. Our research forecasts this segment will grow to over $250 billion by 2031.

Focus on Chronic Disease Management:

- Payers are investing in technologies like remote patient monitoring to better manage chronic conditions and reduce costly hospitalizations. This represents a $50 billion addressable market.

Innovation in Senior Living:

- Senior living facilities are adopting wellness technologies like virtual reality and social robots to enhance resident experience and quality of life.

Caregiver Shortages Challenge Growth:

- With 7 million caregiver jobs expected to be unfilled by 2026, companies are exploring fatigue management tools and augmented reality to support overburdened caregivers.

Rise of Digital Health Solutions:

- Telehealth, virtual visits, and digital therapeutics are relieving pressures on the system. The digital health market is expected to reach $175 billion as virtual care models mature.
