

HappiTravel Launches 10+ Million Vacation Rentals And Opens New Markets

The world's premier wholesale travel platform just exploded its inventory again!

MISSOULA, MONTANA, UNITED STATES, September 3, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HappiTravel, LLC announced the launch of the wholesale travel platform's newest booking engine offering its customers access to 10+ million vacation rentals worldwide at wholesale rates. Listings are matched to inventory available through well known vacation rental brands and websites in order to display the wholesale savings of 30-70% available through HappiTravel®.

The Vacation Rentals component complements HappiTravel's existing wholesale booking engines for hotels, resorts, cruises, flights, cars, transfers, activities and events. Its activation completes the company's wholesale offerings in every major category of travel.

The release of our new Vacation Rentals engine is a cherry on top of a platform already bursting with undeniable value!”

Mike Darling, CTO

HappiTravel® further announced that it has expanded its Resorts inventory to over 450,000 resort weeks. The Resorts engine is one of the most popular among customers, frequently offering as much as 80% or more discounts off retail rates. The increase in inventory reflects the company's relentless focus on customer value, for which it has received a flood of high profile 5-star ratings and reviews.

HappiTravel® also announced the platform is now available to customers in the United Kingdom as well as Australia. This follows in a series of new markets opened over the past year, as publicly forecast by the company. The platform is now available in 18 countries with many more scheduled to be opened in the coming months.

Membership in HappiTravel® follows the same well known model used by big box wholesale membership clubs for groceries and other goods. For just $99/year customers get access to online booking engines that function just like big name travel websites, except it provides rock bottom wholesale rates directly to the consumer. Inflation and a tightening economy have put value center stage for savvy travelers that have become increasingly aware of the extraordinary markups imposed by big travel sites. Thus, the ability to save up to 80% or more off retail rates more than covers the membership fee for their HappiTravel account, typically in multiples and on their very first reservation.

“The release of our new Vacation Rentals engine is a cherry on top of a platform already bursting with undeniable value,” remarked CTO, Mike Darling. “We are now able to fully cover every major category of travel including hotels, resorts, vacation rentals, cruises, flights, cars, transfers, activities and events. Plus the increase in inventory to nearly half a million resort weeks cannot be overstated. Why would you ever pay retail again for travel? It literally costs you more not to be a member.”

HappiTravel® is widely regarded as the world’s premier wholesale travel platform. The company’s tireless focus on consumer value has resulted in an outpouring of rave reviews and 5-star ratings throughout the internet and consumer watchdog websites. By giving away the entire wholesale margin to customers, the company depends on word-of-mouth exposure from its customers instead of traditional TV advertising and high cost celebrity endorsements. The company philosophy is to instead give all of that value directly to its customers through the wholesale rates who will naturally want to share it with their friends. HappiTravel® is also fully accredited by the Better Business Bureau with an A+ rating.

“We are also elated for HappiTravel® to be available in the United Kingdom and Australia,” added President, Camaron Corr. “These are markets yearning for exactly the kind of value offered by the platform. We look forward to leveraging the company’s new footprint into many more markets throughout Europe and Oceania in the near future. It’s a big world but everyone speaks the language of travel!”
