sharing. It will grow to $9.14 billion in 2028 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 17.6%. Additionally, the development of referral management software and adherence to regulatory standards for patient data privacy have also contributed to market growth.

Government Initiatives Boost IT Adoption in Healthcare, Driving Referral Management Market Growth

Government initiatives aimed at incorporating IT solutions in healthcare systems are expected to further propel the growth of the referral management market. These initiatives are crucial for improving the accuracy, accessibility, and actionability of patient health information. For example, the Indian government's 2021 launch of the Ayushman Bharat Digital Health Mission seeks to digitalize India's health infrastructure. The Ministry of Health and Family Welfare allocated $11.5 billion to this project, underscoring the importance of IT adoption in healthcare. Such government efforts are significantly driving the expansion of the referral management market.
