The evening will immerse guests in interactive experiences showcasing Girl Scouts leading the way in STEAM (science, technology, engineering, art, mathematics), entrepreneurship, environmental stewardship, social justice, and more. Guests will enjoy music, mingling, cocktails, hearty appetizers, and everyone's favorite: s'mores.

WHO:

Honoree: Chrissy Teigen, activist, entrepreneur, New York Times bestselling cookbook author, and GSGLA volunteer troop leader, will accept the She Leads Changemaker Award.

Chrissy has been a powerful advocate for women and girls for decades. In 2021 she took that dedication a step further by joining Girl Scouts as a volunteer troop leader and enrolling her daughter, Luna, as a first-year Daisy. Since then, Chrissy has been a beacon of inspiration and powerful influence by highlighting the long-term benefits and transformative impact of Girl Scouts on girls' lives in Greater Los Angeles. With a deep-rooted history of volunteerism instilled by her mother, Chrissy grew up actively serving senior citizens alongside her sister. Now, as a mother and leader, she is not only continuing the legacy but amplifying it by teaching self-confidence and empowering Girl Scouts to be the next generation of Changemakers.

Emcee: Lynette Romero, Emmy-award winning journalist and NBC4 “Today in LA” morning newscast anchor – covering the Olympics in Paris – and longtime supporter of GSGLA, will emcee this event for the second year in a row.

This event is open to the public. Purchase tickets at girlscoutsla.org/sheleads and join the GSGLA Girl Scout community in championing girl ambition.
