Great batting performance from Gargi which followed an inspiring 3 for 17 spell by Anjana Marella enabled the Southern Strikers lift the MethodHub Bay Area Open trophy.

Gargi got the best batsman award from Sanjay

Krishnamurthi, lead batsman of the US World Cup team. The Best bowler award went to Anjana Marella who received it from the US and Washington Freedom sensation Saurabh Netravalkar. The awards ceremony was graced by Lisa Gillmor, the Mayor of Santa Clara and Larry Klein, the Mayor of Sunnyvale.

"This was a superbly organized tournament with lots of logistics- grounds, players, facilities, special guests- all beautifully brought together by the hard work and skills of the Blazer' leadership of Biju Nair and Srikanth Kollu. The inaugural event has set the bar high for future tournaments in the Bay area and elsewhere" said Aho Bilam, CEO of MethodHub.

"This was a landmark event, being the largest in North America in the women's cricket calendar and the level and intensity will only increase from here. The passion and commitment shown by the players was remarkable and made for some very competitive cricket" said Ravi Shanker, COO of MethodHub.

" Support from the players and team owners was key to organizing such an intensive tournament involving 8 teams with 100 players playing 5 matches each at 4 different venues over the 3-day Labor day weekend. We are greatly enthused by the participation and women's league cricket in the US is here to stay and grow" said Biju Nair, President of the Blazers Cricket Academy.

" We thank the sponsors, especially the Title Sponsor, MethodHub for supporting this event and their continued commitment to women's cricket in the US in general.
