BMW i4, BMW i5, BMW iX, Rivian R1T, Rivian R1S, Alfa Romeo Tonale and for the first time in Connecticut, a Tesla Cybertruck. A variety of additional test drives will be coordinated by sponsor EVNoire. Attendees can speak with a variety of EV owners who will be showcasing their cars and answering questions about their personal experience. Enjoy “Sage on the Stage” presentations by subject matter experts covering topics of interest to new owners and the EV-curious. Special vehicles included in the display showcase are a BMW i7, and electric versions of a delivery van, garbage truck, police patrol car, and a Flux Marine electric boat.

“We welcome everyone who would like to learn more about EVs. This is a non-pressured way to take a test drive and learn about EV ownership from other EV owners and experts.” said Barry

Kresch, President, Electric Vehicle Club of Connecticut.

On Monday, September 16th all are invited to learn from EV policy experts, industry influencers, and EV products and services. You'll have an opportunity to hear from Marissa Gillett, Chairman of PURA, Connecticut's Public Utilities Regulatory Authority, Claire Coleman, Consumer Counsel Connecticut State Office of Consumer Counsel, Matt Ferrell of the YouTube channel Undecided, and Brandon Smith of EVNoire. Don't miss out on this electrifying event that features policy-oriented presentations and a roundtable discussion about residential, business and municipal EV charging, solar and battery storage installation and incentives from people who have been through the process.
