Definition:

A Pet Boarding Service involves providing temporary care and shelter for pets (usually dogs, cats, and other small animals) when their owners are unable to take care of them, often due to travel or other commitments. These services can be offered by professional facilities, such as kennels or specialized pet hotels, or by independent caregivers in their own homes. The service may include feeding, exercise, grooming, and in some cases, medical care.

Market Trends:

- The increase in pet adoption, particularly during and after the COVID-19 pandemic, has led to more demand for pet care services, including boarding.

Market Drivers:

- The growing number of pet owners, especially among millennials and Gen Z, is a major market driver.

Market Opportunities:

- In urban areas where pet ownership is high, people are more likely to need boarding services due to busy schedules and frequent travel.

Market Challenges:

- The rise of home-based and freelance pet sitters creates intense competition for traditional boarding facilities.

Market Restraints:

- Boarding services can be expensive, limiting access for budget-conscious pet owners.
