EINPresswire.com/ -- Sound Payments, a processor-agnostic payments solutions provider, and Dejavoov, a global leader in innovative payment technology today announced the completion of the integration of Dejavoov's QD series of secure payment devices and Sound POS.

"As we celebrate Sound Payment's 8th anniversary and continuous growth, we welcome Dejavoov to our Sound family and are excited to expand the hardware line for Sound POS resellers and merchants," said Andrew Russell, CEO of Sound Payments. "This is an important accomplishment in our company's history as we grow Sound POS in the market."

The integration of these systems is designed to facilitate a fast, and secure transaction process, enhancing the total customer experience.

The secure Android terminals in Dejavoov's QD line offer merchants a wide range of options – rugged and dependable for businesses on-the-go to sophisticated features for quick serve restaurants and busy retail shops. There is a QD terminal for every merchant at affordable prices.

"Our partnership with Sound POS will help merchants best position themselves for today's competitive environment, boosting productivity, reducing operating costs, and increasing sales," said Mony Zenou, Founder and CEO, Dejavoov.

You will not find a better, faster POS system with top notch customer support than Sound POS and at a great price point.”

“You will not find a better, faster POS system with top notch customer support than Sound POS and at a great price point,” Russell said. Sound POS includes a robust back office (to manage inventory, trends, etc.), compliant cash discounting and surcharging functionality, an easy-to-use POS platform and a great line of hardware options.

Resellers in the payments industry choose Sound Payments’ solutions for their ease of use, including the ability to transfer devices to a different merchant and/ or processor (unlike other POS providers that lock a merchant in). Sound Payments offers a white label option, a lower price point, a processor-neutral approach, and a cloud-based platform that makes Sound POS a better choice for resellers and for small and medium-sized businesses.
