“My deep commitment to early childhood education and nearly two decades of experience working with young children inspired me to write Yellow Kite,” says Saanika Gandhi. “My goal has always been to create an environment where children can grow and achieve their full potential. The rebranding of my nursery from Kangaroo Kids to Yellow Kite Nursery was a step toward making that vision a reality and reflecting our growth and ethos as a brand. This transformation motivated me to extend the lessons of imagination, kindness, and personal growth beyond the walls of the nursery, which led to the creation of The Yellow Kite.”
