Climbing for a Cause: Supporting Education for Marginalized Children in Kolkata

On 13th October, Monica and her son will take on a unique challenge to support The Hope Foundation's Naboasha ("New Hope") Education Centre by climbing the O2 arena in London. They aim to raise vital funds for an educational project in Kolkata, India, which provides education, nutrition, and counselling to marginalized street-connected children aged 6 to 14.

The Naboasha Centre offers a safe and joyful learning space, where children not enrolled in school are identified and supported through specialized classes, storytelling, and participatory games. Teachers work closely with these first-generation learners, helping them build the skills and confidence needed to enter mainstream schools.

This project serves as a lifeline, equipping children with the tools they need for a brighter future. 100% of donations will go directly to the project, with no hidden fees or administrative costs. Every contribution, no matter how small, is deeply appreciated and will make a meaningful difference. To donate, please go to our Justgiving page.
