

"Jacquie Hadnot's Blood on the Wall" Premieres in Detroit MI: A Cinematic Journey from Trauma to Triumph

"Blood on the Wall" premieres in Detroit on Sept. 28, 2024. The gripping film adaptation of Dr. Jacquie Hadnot's book embarks on a powerful journey of survival.

OVERLAND PARK, KS, UNITED STATES, September 11, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The highly anticipated film adaptation of the best-selling book by Dr. Jacquie Hadnot, Blood on the Wall, will premiere at the Emagine Theater in Detroit, Michigan, on September 28, 2024.

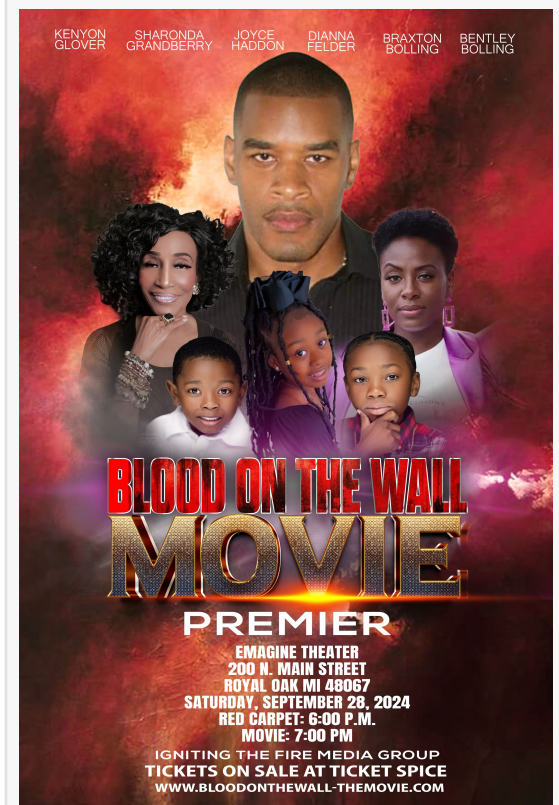

The film, a gripping tale of resilience and survival, marks a powerful collaboration between Dr. Hadnot and renowned writer Charles McDonald.

Blood on the Wall stars an exceptional cast, including Kenyon Glover, Sharonda Grandberry, Joyce Haddon, Dianna Felder, Haley Campbell, Bentley and Braxton Bolling, Michael Portley, and Gregory Hadnot, alongside a stellar ensemble of supporting actors. The film is directed by Charles Todman and Dr. Jacquie Hadnot, bringing a dynamic and emotionally charged narrative to the big screen.

Based on Dr. Hadnot's acclaimed book, Blood on the Wall immerses audiences in a harrowing night of violence as the Jackson family finds themselves caught in a deadly confrontation. A seemingly ordinary night of gambling spirals into a life-threatening ordeal when gunmen storm their home, leaving the family to navigate a perilous journey through fear and adversity.

"Blood on the Wall is more than just a movie; it is a profound exploration of courage and resilience," said Dr. Jacquie Hadnot. "It's a story of overcoming unimaginable odds and emerging stronger on the other side."

The film's premiere in Detroit will kick off a thirteen-city tour, providing audiences across the country an opportunity to experience this transformative story. Tickets for the first five cities on the tour are now available at www.bloodonthewall-themovie.com. Fans can also catch a glimpse
