EINPresswire.com/ -- Occupational Health & Safety, providing worker safety-triad insights since 1932, brought to you by Converge360, a division of 1105 Media, is pleased to announce the winners of the 2024 New Product of the Year Awards.

New Product of the Year

This year, 26 companies are being recognized under the program, which honors the outstanding product development achievements of health and safety manufacturers whose products are considered particularly noteworthy in their ability to improve workplace safety.

"We had a lot of competition in the technology categories, such as AI Technology, EHS Apps and EHS Software, this year," said David Kopf, publisher and executive editor of Occupational Health & Safety. "That doesn't surprise me as data-driven solutions and automation continue to enhance and augment workplace safety. You certainly see that in our magazine and online coverage as well as webinars and podcasts. I'm eager to see what develops next!"

All winning products will receive editorial coverage in the November/December 2024 issue of Occupational Health & Safety magazine and will be recognized on ohsonline.com and in 2024 New Product of the Year Awards winners marketing and promotions.
