The sustainability award considers Margaret's exceptional restoration work on a severely burned and distorted leather Celine handbag.

Where other service providers dared not attempt work on this essentially destroyed bag, our artisans eagerly accepted the challenge, showcasing our unique and experienced approach to restoration. This is just one example of our team's unparalleled expertise in the field of restoration, a testament to our commitment to excellence.

Several hands of Margaret's team were involved in this effort. Most notably, hide stitching specialists, along with their artists who specialize in expert color match blends and specialists in paint applications, were able to exactly match the leather grain, stitching, and color of the most damaged panel of the bag, replacing it entirely.

To complete the restoration, they performed an extensive, detailed cleaning and specialty smoke deodorizing method for the entire bag, restoring it to a new condition. This impressive save was presented on an unforgettable evening at the stunning FASHIONPHILE showroom in New York City.
