

As the Fall semester begins, Zapshot expands fun communication among students at Loyola Marymount University

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES,
September 16, 2024 /

EINPresswire.com/ -- Zapshot has been hosting pop-up events aimed at enhancing student communication this Back-To-School Season. On August 30th, a pop-up event was held at Loyola Marymount University, where students connected with each other and explored the app's features.

Zapshot has been collaborating with students in the Los Angeles area, incorporating their valuable feedback to enhance the app. The app's features also captured students' attention at the pop-up event at Loyola Marymount University.

Zapshot's Voice-to-Text feature lets users send both voice and text messages without typing by turning voice into text. This allows users to convey not just words, but also the emotions and nuances behind them. It was well-received by students as a great tool for staying connected with friends as the new semester began.

The event also featured a photo booth where students could share fun moments with friends in real time using Zapshot's Moment feature with a 360-degree camera. The feature caught students' attention and sparked a lot of interest.

These features help students communicate and express themselves more smoothly in their daily school lives. Zapshot is excited to continue rolling out new initiatives and hosting events to make
