350 technology and services partners, UKG provides one of the largest and most collaborative partner ecosystems in the HCM industry focused on creating better employee experiences for all people, to improve business outcomes.

With this collaboration, organizations that utilize both AccuSourceHR SourceDirect™ and UKG Pro® can benefit from a holistic approach to employee onboarding by ensuring clients can easily order screening services, maintain candidate engagement throughout the screening process and review the completed screening profile results, all within the UKG Pro platform. The partnership supports the evolving needs of today’s modern, tech-savvy mobile workforce, enabling businesses to meet unique onboarding requisites, such as remote workers, field-based staff, traveling professionals and independent contractors.

“We are excited to partner with UKG in providing new workflow improvement options” states Dan Filby, CEO, AccuSourceHR. “HR professionals are leaning into AI-driven solutions to maximize efficiency and improve productivity. Our collaborative effort in integrating our technologies supports our focus on continuous innovation to meet evolving business needs.”

UKG solutions are developed on the Flex platform, a modern technology platform purpose-built to support great workplaces. Flex Flow, a highly adaptable API framework, anchors UKG solutions in the flow of work where people need and want them most, and helps businesses connect existing IT with innovative or emerging applications to improve their workplace.

“Our partnership ecosystem helps us support our customers with seamless solutions that improve business outcomes and inspires people,” says Mike May, vice president of technology partnerships at UKG. “Partners like AccuSourceHR allow us to extend our capabilities and deliver technology that elevates the workplace experience and meet the needs of people throughout their life work journey.”
