

New Book Release: 'The Parking Lot Rapist' – A True Detective's Account

A riveting firsthand account of a police department's commitment to bringing a predator to justice

TWIN FALLS, ID, UNITED STATES, September 23, 2024 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Retired detective Lee DeVore announces the release of his new book, The Parking Lot Rapist, a harrowing true crime narrative that recounts the investigation leading to the capture of a serial rapist and killer who terrorized Los Angeles and Orange Counties in the 1970s.

In The Parking Lot Rapist, DeVore provides an insider's view of the tragic murder of nineteen-year-old Gina Marie Tisher and the kidnapping and sexual assault of other victims, documenting the relentless pursuit of justice by the Fullerton Police Department. The book delves deep into the complex and meticulous investigation, unveiling the strategies, challenges, and breakthroughs that ultimately led to the arrest and conviction of Kenneth Richard Hulbert.

Readers will be captivated by the detailed accounts of key moments, including:

- Transcripts of Hulbert's chilling confessions
- Collaboration with various law enforcement agencies
- The emotional toll on the victims' families
- Assisting the biological father of a young boy living with his mother and the rapist in rescuing his child
- The community's united fight against a monstrous predator

The Parking Lot Rapist is more than just a detective's tale; it is a testament to the dedication, teamwork, and unwavering commitment of an entire police department. DeVore's vivid storytelling captures the essence of true crime, highlighting the painstaking efforts and sacrifices made to bring a dangerous criminal to justice.

"I wanted to share the story not only to highlight the hard work and perseverance of the

I have consulted with over two hundred police agencies in my career, and this is one of the best documented case studies that I've ever read."
