Doug Mathis

Doug is a Positive Country Artist with 2by2 Records out of Nashville, Tennessee with eight number one hit songs, including "When He Calls My Name", "Love Somebody", "King Of Love", "God's Got A Plan", "A Million Miles", "Raise Up A Warrior", "How Great Thou Art" and "It's A God Thang!"

Doug is currently touring the country, singing his own personal brand of Positive Country Music and is also the host of "An Acoustic Evening For Autism", a fundraiser for the Vanderbilt Kennedy Center, raising awareness about autism and featuring artists like Darryl Worley, Jimmy Fortune, John Berry, T Graham Brown, Wade Hayes, with emcee Devon O'Day. The second annual event is scheduled for April 1, 2025 at the Troubadour Theater in Nashville Tennessee.

Doug's latest song and music video release, "How Many Days" is resonating with parents across the world. Commonly, children, adolescents, and adults on the spectrum develop focused interests, including with letters and numbers. "How Many Days" brings attention to this special mindset and recognizes it as a great area of strength, and an aide to help cross hurdles in communication. This heartwarming song and visual tell the story of a little boy named Jack, who is fascinated by numbers and asks "How Many Days". The touching narrative explores the curiosity and innocence of a child with autism, and aims to inspire greater understanding of alternative methods of thinking.

"This song is very close to my heart. It's about understanding and giving a voice to those who are often unheard. I'm honored to support the Vanderbilt Kennedy Center through this project and hope to inspire greater awareness and understanding of autism." - Doug Mathis
