The Intermediate Stock, Bond, and Gold Timers are measured over a 52 week (1 year) period and the Long Term Timers are measured over 104 weeks (2 years). The Intermediate Stock, Bond, and Gold models that we monitor generally issue between 4 and 20 signal changes per year (total buys and sells). The Long Term models that we monitor generally issue between 1 and 4 signal changes per year (total buys and sells). You will note that there are exceptions to this in the tables.

The Performance Index is calculated by considering each Advisor and the S&P 500 Index to be equal to 100.00 at the beginning of each period. Each Advisor's Performance Index represents the total net gain or loss of all signals issued during the period. Timing signals assume either long or short positions in the S&P 500 Index. A Neutral signal is an automatic move to cash.

As an example, a Performance Index of 133.2 would represent a theoretical investment of $100 in the S&P 500 Index at the beginning of the period, growing to $133.20 at the end of the period (not including dividend income or commissions). The performance is for Timing only and does not reflect the performance of the securities that are bought and sold during the period. This study is hypothetical and is only for the purpose of comparison of the performance of the advisor's signals. Past results are not an indication of future results.

"The deep analysis that is provided every week is amazing and just gives you that confidence to go into the call or put for the SPY option for that week...the real amazing part is that the majority of the time the trade hits all the targets set out by this service so the losses from the stops are easily recouped and exceeded! Over 100% return in a few months already!"

— Yash Chahal, Retail Trader

"You've done it again! Another week has gone by and your PMT Pro service has nailed the market's move nearly to the exact number you predicted. The amount of money I've made from PMT as a result of just this past month alone would easily pay for all your services combined (PMT, OTF, Options, etc.) for life and leave me a substantial sum of money left over."
